

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A liquid crystal display device which has a liquid crystal display which uses liquid crystal with a memory effect. When a contact action
5 with a screen of the liquid crystal display is made, information displayed thereon is written again thereon. Also, if no changes have been made on the information displayed for a whole day, the same information is automatically written on the liquid crystal display. The display device is attachable to and detachable from a household electrical appliance. The 10 information is about at least one of a calendar, a recipe, a massage, stock, a picture and data reception from outside, etc.

009527368-031600